

Carolina Dance Company Food Policy

The following is Carolina Dance Company's new food policy. Please follow this policy at all Carolina Dance Company activities.

We have several girls/families that are affected by peanuts and peanut butter. We are asking that there be absolutely NO peanut products at any Carolina Dance Company event. The families are all highly allergic and can have a severe reaction by just being in the same area as peanut products.

Milk and Dairy products are okay as the individual families know what they can and can not eat.

Thank you in advance for looking out for our dance family.

Here is an email from one of competition moms.

Nicole,

Thanks for watching out for the girls! A definite NO with the peanut butter in the room because Elise does get a reaction if it is in the air. Within 15 minutes a jar was even open last time, she was up to a 105 temperature, so please NO on that one.....!! Let me know what I can do to help out with this.

Rebecca

FDA requires restaurants to cook their peanut oil to a certain temperature which kills the product that causes the allergic reaction. That is why kids with peanut allergies can eat Chic-fil-a. Some of the families still do not chance it so KFC would be a great option as well.
